

ARCHITEAM AND RaSP DATA COLLECTION SURVEY PRIVACY STATEMENT

For the purposes of this Data Collection survey we are only collecting information that will assist us to answer the research question - Do Architect designed renovations/new builds improve capital gains in the Melbourne residential property market?

We are only collecting the contact data of architects and real estate agents so that we can contact them to inspect properties, clarify survey answers or complete questions. We are only interested in the de-identified demographic information of clients so that we can understand who (as a group) is undertaking what activities in the property market and when.

Only aggregate data will be published in research and disclosed in other professional fora, unless you are contacted and specifically asked for your direct consent for the use of individualised data in an exhibition or related context. At all times you may either give or withhold consent.

Data will be retained by Dr Peter Raisbeck for a period of five years.

The Data will be kept secure at the Melbourne School of Design (MSD).

You have the right to access, view and edit your responses at any time during the survey period. Once the survey closes, and during the research project period, you still retain the right to access, view and edit your responses by contacting Dr Peter Raisbeck on raisbeck@unimelb.edu.au.
